Invitation to Attend the Siriraj International Conference in Medicine and Public Health

“SICMPH2023”

Theme “Information Innovation Integration”

Organized by Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital, Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand

June 19th-23rd, 2023

SICMPH is an international conference in the fields of medicine and public health. The conference has originated from the Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital’s annual conference in medical sciences since 2012.

In 2023, Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital will host the academic conference, SICMPH 2023, the conference focuses on providing a platform for healthcare professionals, researchers, policymakers, and other stakeholders to share their knowledge, experiences, and the latest information. It also provides a platform for the latest innovations and advancements, as well as the opportunity to promote a comprehensive and integrated approach to public health in Thailand and beyond.

To address the constantly evolving challenges and seize new opportunities that arise every day, the Siriraj International Conference of Medicine and Public Health is a valuable opportunity for healthcare professionals to contribute to the advancement of multidisciplinary healthcare, with the integration of knowledge and expertise of other fields. This includes areas of knowledge in management, engineering, law, information and technology, education, and investment.

On behalf of the Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital, Mahidol University, I would very much appreciate if you could attend the conference and share your perspectives for mutual enhancement and further collaborations in the near future. For more information, please visit www.sicmph.com

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Thailand.

Sincerely yours,

Professor Apichart Asavanomgkolkul, MD
Dean, Faculty of Medicine Siriraj Hospital,
Mahidol University, Bangkok, Thailand.
